

The purpose of studying History at NKS is... At NKS, History is a valued academic discipline which aims to broaden understanding of political, economic, social, military, cultural and intellectual developments in the past. The NKS History Department has constructed a cumulative curriculum which aspires to broaden and refine subject knowledge from Years 7-13. Students are taught how to communicate their ideas effectively, in written answers and verbally. We enable students to analyse the events which continue to shape our lives on a local, national and global level. The History Department's aim, is to create self-assured and resilient learners, with the ability to think critically about the past, and gain a level of mastery in subject knowledge. This critical thinking is applied in the evaluation of historical sources and interpretations, whilst also allowing students to immerse themselves in contemporary controversies involving History (e.g. empire, immigration etc). By allowing students to explore the events and ideas which have fed into the debate about 'British Values', they will gain a more complex and secure appreciation of concepts like tolerance, democracy, liberty, endeavour, diversity, responsibility and community.

Year 9

Our Y9 curriculum builds on and extends the work done in Y8 by summarising key themes in our GCSE foundation course. Students begin with the thematic study (Britain: Health & the People) to promote chronological understanding in the light of the foundation course. The curriculum is broadened out by a highly-focused depth study on Norman England in Terms 4-6.

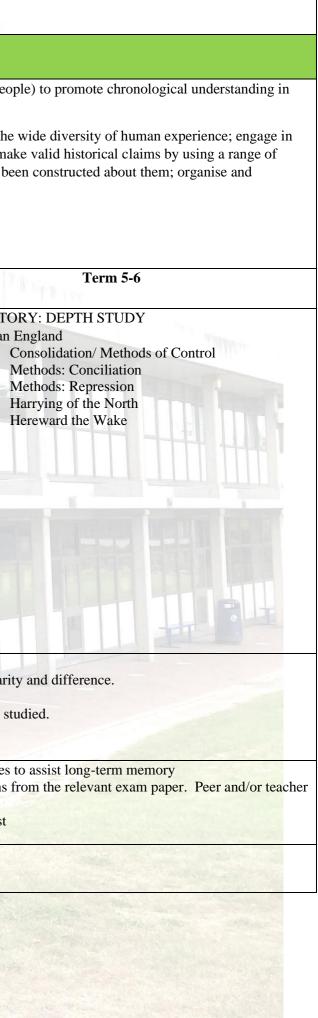

Units are sequenced to help students: develop and extend their knowledge and understanding of specified key events, periods and societies in local, British, and wider world history; and of the wide diversity of human experience; engage in historical enquiry to develop as independent learners and as critical and reflective thinkers; develop the ability to ask relevant questions about the past, to investigate issues critically and to make valid historical claims by using a range of sources in their historical context; develop an awareness of why people, events and developments have been accorded historical significance and how and why different interpretations have been constructed about them; organise and communicate their historical knowledge and understanding in different ways and reach substantiated conclusions.

It prepares students for the GCSE programme by covering the required topics and exam question

Year 10

Our Y10 curriculum builds on and extends the work done in Y9 by developing student understanding of the impact of the Normans. Students are given the opportunity to revise their Y9 Hea Term 3). Paper 1 (modern history) is scheduled after paper 2 because of paper 1's greater level of conceptual challenge (e.g. left-wing/right-wing). Y10 are more likely to access such things a we return to the Normans Depth Study to tackle the Historic Environment topic as the exam board will have published the necessary resource pack, by that point. We use this as an opportunit pack. Students sit a Normans PPE.

Year 11

Our Y11 curriculum builds on and extends the work done in Y10 by revising/summarising any necessary topics from the previous two terms (especially Germany) (*Summer 2020 changes – email rgray@nks.kent.sch.uk for details). The WWI topic is scheduled after the study of Germany so that students can better understand the diplomatic events of the 1890s-1914, having already briefly studied the Kaiser's foreign policy plans and methods as part of the Germany 1890-1945 topic.

Students take a full Paper 2 PPE in Nov to provide another revision stepping-stone, bridging the gap between Y9 and the end of Y11. Students sit a full Paper 1 PPE in the more recent topics (Germany and WWI) in Feb/March.

Year 13

Our Y13 curriculum builds on and extends the work done in Y12 by completing the study of the entire era. Students can expect questions drawn from a broader time period. The evaluation of sources and interpretations will take into account a greater level of maturity and contextual understanding. Units are sequenced to secure both chronological and thematic understanding in line with the specification set out by the exam board.
